

Document Title: Growing Green Leaders: Green Oasis's Environmental Education Grant

Grant Information:

Green Oasis, a Toronto-based non-profit organization, has secured an environmental education grant of CAD 600,000 from the North American Green Initiative (NAGI). This grant will significantly augment Green Oasis's existing efforts to promote environmental education among Toronto's youth, with an emphasis on underprivileged communities.

Green Oasis is recognized for its dedication to creating an environmentally conscious generation through education and community initiatives.

The grant aims to support two key areas:

1. Environmental Education: Green Oasis is set to expand its environmental education programs, creating engaging curriculums that cultivate awareness and encourage action on environmental issues.
2. Community Greening Projects: A portion of the grant will fund community greening projects led by youth, fostering a sense of responsibility towards their local environment and empowering them to become agents of change.

Key individuals involved in Green Oasis include Julie Beaumont, CEO, and Samuel Harrison, Director of Education Programs.

Keywords:

Toronto, Youth, Underprivileged Communities, Environmental Education, Community Greening Projects, Green Oasis, North American Green Initiative, Julie Beaumont, Samuel Harrison

Geography Information:

Geography	Details
-----	-----
Geographic focus	Toronto, Canada
Grant recipient HQ	Toronto, Canada

| Grant provider HQ | Washington D.C., USA |

With Green Oasis at the helm and backed by the NAGI grant, the future of environmental education in Toronto looks promising. The initiatives supported by this grant are poised to cultivate a generation of environmentally conscious leaders, contributing to a greener tomorrow.